The Power of a Goal

Do you have a goal for each workout?

To get the most out of your exercise time, make each session goal-oriented.

Decide how many miles you'll run, how many reps you'll do or how much you'll increase the intensity before your workout begins. Then achieve it.

Set clear goals, write them down, and keep a record of your workouts. There's nothing quite like being able to read exactly where you want to be, where you currently are, and where you've come from. – Wylie Flaw

The Scottish Rite Masons started the first of their free speech therapy clinics in Colorado in the 1950s. Since then, 170 centers across the country have treated thousands of children. One of those centers is the Childhood Language Center, which began treating West Virginia's children in 1992. A regional center serving children across 14 counties, the Childhood Language center has no residency requirements and treats children from birth to age 16. All of their services are provided at absolutely no charge to the family. The Center operates solely on funds raised by the Scottish Rite Masons and donations from the community and local corporations. Since opening their doors in 1992, no family has ever received a bill for their services.
